Chai Lifeline

Fighting Illness With Love

Since its establishment five years ago, Chai Lifeline Canada has touched the lives of hundreds of families with support and programs that help alleviate the fear and isolation of pediatric illness and provide compassion and fortitude that allows families to face each day with renewed hope.

Throughout the year, Canadian families benefit from two-dozen programs and services that include ChaiLine telephone support groups, tutoring, Big Brother/Big Sister programs, family days, retreats and respite, case management, education and advocacy.

Last summer, twenty Canadian children experienced a summer filled with laughter, love, and sunshine at Camp Simcha or Camp Simcha Special, Chai Lifeline's pioneering overnight camps designed to meet the medical and social needs of seriously ill children. They returned home filled with happy memories, determined to fight the pain of illness for another year.

Every Chai Lifeline Canada program is offered at no charge to families. We rely on you, our friends and supporters, to ensure that our programs and services continue to reach every Canadian family who needs us.
